MR. BALLINGER PUTS IT UP TO CONGRESS TO SAVE RESOURCES

SECRETARY SAYS IT BELONGS THERE

Will Withhold Lands From Entry until Congress Has a Chance to Legalize Effective Methods

FRIENDS OF WORK ALARMED

Fear Is Expressed that the Present Congress will Kill Measure and Great Grab will Follow

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Although Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is still working on his forthcoming report to congress which will be the first that he has made since he entered the cabinet, the United Press is able to outline some of the more important features of that portion of the report dealing with the disposition of waterpower sites and coal lands. These are the questions around which has raged the Pickett-Ballinger controversy that has so disturbed President Taft's official family.

From present indications the policy of conservation of the country's natural resources will be one of the big problems before congress at the coming session and Ballinger has some important recommendations to make on this subject.

Leave it to Congress

He will take the ground in his report that it is for congress to decide upon the proper methods of conserving these resources. He will emphasize the statement that, all withdrawal of the public lands, made during the eight months of his administration, were ordered simply as a temporary measure to prevent monopoly until congress could have time to act. He will give a detailed list of power sites that have been withdrawn by his order, making a total much greater, he will declare, than those withdrawn by his predecessor in the last days of the Roosevelt administration. He will call attention to the desirability of preventing the monopolization of these sites but will pass up to congress further responsibility in the matter.

To Consolidate Claims

A national policy of dealing with the coal deposits of the west so as to allow the consolidation of several claims and permit the development of coal lands by corporations excluded under the present laws will be another recommendation by Ballinger, it is understood. It is such consolidation in violation of law that forms part of L. R. Glavis' charges in relation to the Alaskan cases.

Conservation by law and not by executive action will be the keynote of Secretary Ballinger's report, which will deal exhaustively with the legal principles underlying his action since he has been the guardian of the public and in a sense be a defense of his attitude, which has aroused so much criticism from the Roosevelt conservationists.

Taft is Agreeable

The secretary will argue that the executive branch of the government has no right to withhold land from settlement in the absence of specific authorization from congress. It is stated today by well informed persons that Ballinger has the support of President Taft in this attitude and that the president's message to congress will probably deal with the subject in the same manner.

Various Bills Pending

Bills are already on the congressional calendar calling for a complete revocation of all withdrawals of public lands—notably one by Congressman Smith of California prohibiting the withdrawals of lands by the executive without legislative sanction and one by Senator Guggenheim of Colorado, granting outright rights of way for power lines, dams and canals through all the public domain.

Conservationists Fear

Comment here among advocates of conservation upon certain phases of Secretary Ballinger's report, as forecasted, is that the secretary is taking a step which he knows will put an end to conservation of water power and mineral lands. It is pointed out that the secretary is represented as preparing to recommend that congress pass certain laws legalizing effective conservation methods which HE KNOWS THAT CONGRESS AS NOW CONSTITUTED WILL NOT PASS. The inference is that upon congress' refusal to pass such laws, the interior department will announce that it can no longer withhold from entry these valuable lands which it has temporarily withdrawn

ESCH SAYS THAT CONGRESS SHOULD PROBE COAL CASE

Declares the Circumstances Warrant Thorough Investigation of Alaskan Land Trickery Controversy

The charges of L. R. Glavis, deposed special agent for the general land office alleging that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is in league with the Guggenheims in a plot to turn over immense Alaskan coal fields to that body of capitalists, are so important as to warrant an immediate, special and thorough investigation by congress, says Congressman John J. Esch.

"The truth of the situation, as far as the connection of Guggenheim and the Alaskan coal mines is concerned, should be sifted to the bottom in view of the fact that the future supply of coal rests on the disposition of these lands."

Congressman Esch turns up a new danger in the turning over of the lands to the Guggenheims in view of the fact that the discoveries of coal in Alaska will result in that place being the coaling station for the Pacific fleet and urges that every precaution be taken to save them.

"From what I have learned," said Mr. Esch today, "Glavis, who makes the charges against Ballinger, is a man of integrity and as far as I can see has no end to gain by making so serious accusations other than for the benefit of the public."

"If the charges, even in part, are proved true, President Taft would not be justified in retaining Ballinger and the affair would certainly result in the ousting of the secretary."

"It is of interest to note that the charges of Glavis have been corroborated by former President Charles Eliot of Harvard in the first report of the National Conservation association, of which he is the head."

MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE TO FINANCE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION

Above are four members of the committee named yesterday by President John Denger of the board of trade to solicit subscriptions to the stock of the new industrial corporation whose capitalization of $100,000 is to be dedicated to the work of securing factories for La Crosse. Mr. C. S. Van Auker is also a member of the committee, which is authorized to appoint sub-committees to assist in the canvass.

Mr. Wing has called a meeting of the committee for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and it is the purpose of the members to immediately formulate plans and begin a vigorous campaign.

MENTAL MURDER WAS ATTEMPTED

That Is Sensational Story of Mrs. Babcock Flung at Mrs. Stetson in Interview Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Maud Klam Babcock, a former student and Christian Science practitioner under Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of the First church here, insists Mrs. Stetson tried to "mentally assassinate her" because she opposed Mrs. Stetson's sway in New York city.

Her evidence against the New York leader is now in the possession of the church authorities in Boston.

Mrs. Babcock declares she gave all of an independent fortune she had inherited to the cause. She resigned from the local church a year ago and appealed to the Boston authorities for aid. They summoned her to Boston and there she told her experiences.

Following a quarrel with Mrs. Stetson the latter, she declared, opposed her in every way. She then told of the graphic story of her "mental assassination."

"After an interview with Mrs. Stetson I returned to my home in Cedarhurst. I went to bed and to sleep. At midnight I was awakened by an icy blast sweeping through the open window from New York. My teeth chattered. My heart fluttered. Luminous waves rolled toward me covered with the faces of the dead. I felt just like a man being electrocuted. It seemed indeed that my soul went out from my body that I saw through the walls of the house. And in this hour of agony I saw Mrs. Stetson's blue eyes all around the room."

"I tottered from the bed and got my testament. Opening it I chanced upon the fifteenth chapter of St. John beginning 'I am the vine, ye are the branches,' and falling on my knees I began to read it aloud."

"Staggering to the bathroom I drew a tub of steaming hot water and got into it. I could not feel the temperature of the water. I realized that I was wrestling not against flesh and blood but against principles, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Impersonal, ever present, omnipotent love bore me up beyond the reach of the would-be midnight mental assassin, the human hatred of truth, the mad ambition for personal place and power."

Mrs. Babcock alleges that though she gave everything she possessed to Mrs. Stetson, she was refused when she asked for aid. She is now a practitioner in this city.

RED WIDOW RUNS A BLUFF ON COURT

Threatens Scandal and the Court Ceases to Ask Questions to which Mme. Steinheil Objects

PARIS, Nov. 10.—"I am becoming angry. Don't exasperate me any longer. I am defending myself cautiously because unfortunately I am obliged to, but if you drive me to it I shall cease to be discreet. Do you understand?"

These words in an undertone pregnant with significance gave a glimpse of the trump card with which Mms. Marguerite Steinheil, on trial for the murder of her husband and mother, hopes to win the game for her life. Her tone was hard and menacing as she flashed this reply to Presiding Judge De Valles, who in the confusion attending the opening of today's session, put a sharp question which threatened to damage her defense.

Judge, jury, lawyers and spectators saw grave possibilities. Scandal and disgrace for officials high in the life of the French republic if Madame Steinheil revealed the "back door history" of her attempts to rule France through her lovers. The names of peers, presidents and princes would be sure to figure in a recital of the intrigues which characterized her salon.

De Valles evidently understood. He glanced apprehensively at the accused woman and then abandoned the objectionable line of questioning.

Mr. Borderel, admitted lover of Mme. Steinheil, threw the courtroom into a tumult this afternoon by intimating that the authorities had tampered with the statements taken from the witness shortly after the crime was committed.

BANK CASHIER GOES TO U. S. PRISON

LA CROSSE VS. WABASHA HERE

The La Crosse high school football team will meet the Wabasha high school football team at the local grounds Saturday afternoon. From the fact that this team has won a victory over Sparta, Winona has beaten Wabasha and La Crosse has a victory the best of Winona, the game will be an interesting one.

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL IS DEDICATED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY TODAY

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT VAN HISE

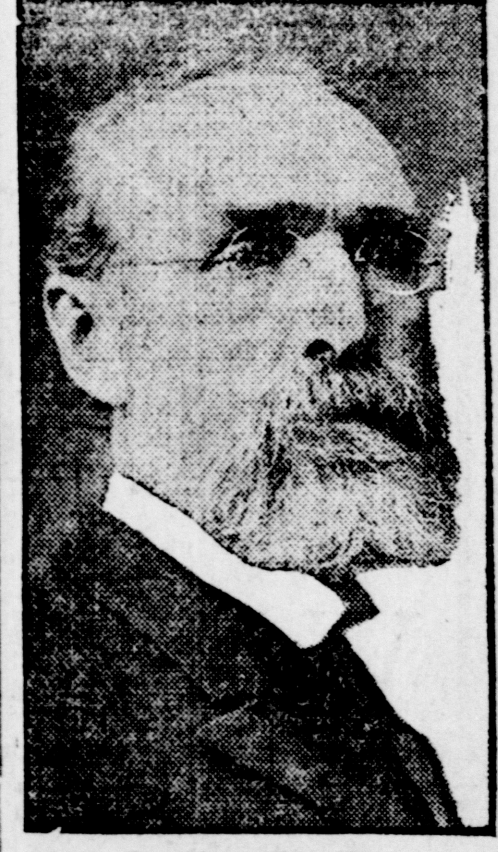

TALKS OF THE NEED OF TRADE SCHOOLS

"The need of trade schools in every city, the necessity for many additional county agricultural schools, and the importance of consolidating rural schools to improve their condition was urged by President Charles R. Van Hise of the university of Wisconsin at the dedication of the new normal school here this afternoon."

"It is generally admitted that the most defective part of our educational system at present is the rural school," said President Van Hise. "This I believe is unavoidable as long as the district system is maintained. Rural schools can only be put on a satisfactory basis by consolidation of the districts into large units. In this state the county unit has been proposed. Whether or not this is the form that consolidation should take, the fact remains that the children of the country districts must be brought together in large graded schools if they are to be given effective instruction."

Trade Schools for every City

"The other important development of our public school system that must be provided for is the trade school. As yet we have only begun to realize the importance of such schools in

President Van Hise. Wisconsin. A municipal trade school has recently been established in Milwaukee. Trade schools of agriculture (Continued on page 5.)

PROF. COTTON INAUGURATED

Formally Inducted Into Office in Presence of State Leaders; Splendid Program Is Rendered

With addresses by President Van Hise of the state university, State Senator Thomas Morris, La Crosse, to whom much of the credit for securing the institution for this city is due, President F. A. Cotton, and a brief report by C. H. Crownhart, Superior, Wis., member of the building committee, and music, the new La Crosse normal school was this afternoon officially dedicated.

Scores of educators from all over the state, local business men, state senators and assemblymen, together with Superintendent of Schools Cary and others interested in state affairs were present at the dedication, which was impressive.

REMARKS OF SENATOR TOM MORRIS

SAYS NORMAL HAS BIG SIGNIFICANCE

"Certainly, we all have a right to feel proud of this splendid gathering of American citizens, and to be thankful that we have lived to see this day. This will be a landmark in educational matters in Wisconsin. If I may be permitted to express my own feelings, allow me to say that I am extremely happy—happy, because I see the culmination of a movement which was started by the people of this city years ago, when they conceived the idea that there was need of another normal school in this state. Happy, too, because I see assembled here from many parts of the state, people whose friendship I have prized beyond the power of expression."

"Time will not permit me to describe the building; indeed, that is unnecessary. You have all seen it and know what it is. It is a magnificent structure. But I do not want to let this occasion go by without thanking everyone who assisted in securing the school, and I want to thank those who were regents when

Senator Tom Morris. the board passed the resolution asking the legislature to establish another normal school, and to locate (Continued on page 6)

PRES. COTTON'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

MEATY DISCOURSE ON NORMAL SCHOOLS

Prof. F. A. Cotton's address comprehended two subjects of interest: One was the history of the birth and growth of the normal school; the other was an analysis of the purposes and methods of the normal.

"As early as 1825," said the speaker, "there appeared in the Connecticut Observer, printed at Hartford, a series of articles over the signature 'Father,' in which the claims of education as a science and of teaching as an art were discussed and an institution for the special training of teachers for their profession was proposed. About the same time there appeared another series over the signature 'Franklin' in the Boston Patriot, having the same purpose. The first series mentioned was collected and published in pamphlet form under the title 'Plan of a Seminary for the Education of Instructors of Youth,' by Rev. Thomas H. Galaudet, Boston, 1825."

The second series appeared in pamphlet form with the title 'Essays on Popular Education. Containing a Particular Examination of the Schools of Massachusetts and an Outline of an Institution for the Education of Teachers,' by James G. Carter, Boston, 1826. These simultaneous articles appeared without any knowledge or acquaintance of the respective authors of each other. In 1825, with no knowledge of the articles just mentioned, Walter B. Johnson of Germantown, Pennsylvania, issued a pamphlet 'Observations on the Improvement of Seminaries of Learning,' setting forth the necessity and advantages of schools for the special training of teachers. In the same year Governor Clinton commended to the New York legislature the consideration of 'The Education of Competent Teachers,' and in 1826, 'The establishment of a seminary for this purpose.'

"These are probably the earliest expressions in this country looking toward the training of teachers, and out of them in these four states came the first state normal schools: three in Massachusetts in 1839; one in New York in 1845; one in Pennsylvania in 1848, and one in Connecticut in 1849. Doubtless the great educational apostle, Horace Mann, received some of his inspiration at least from these sources. These, with the school established at Ypsilanti, Michigan, complete the number of state normal schools in the first half of the nineteenth century. Since that time growth has been more rapid and there are in this country today about one hundred and fifty such schools of all sorts and conditions.

Normal Schools in Wisconsin.

"Here in Wisconsin we have eight state normal schools, well equipped to do the work for which they were organized. These schools opened their doors to students as follows: Platteville, 1866; Whitewater, 1868; Oshkosh, 1871; River Falls, 1875; Milwaukee, 1885; Stevens Point, (Continued on page 6)

AMERICAN WOMEN MOST GRACEFUL
Marie Corelli Pays Great Tribute to Mrs. Taft and to All American Women

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Taft is the ruler of the United States and not her big husband, who bears the title of "President," according to Marie Corelli the celebrated woman novelist, who is the guest of honor today at a luncheon given in the Hotel Cecil by the Society of American Women in London.

Miss Corelli's tribute to Mrs. Taft was but one of a number of compliments she paid to American women, whom she declared she never found dull.

"I never came across a dull American woman in my life," she said. "It is not President Taft but Mrs. Taft who really rules America. She simply takes her husband along with her. To be able to do this is a greater woman's triumph than the gaining of universal suffrage."

"The American women in London are a living force in the social life of the world's metropolis. There is not a noteworthy society function held in London that is not graced and enlivened by American women. American women never seem to act like the women of other countries. They seem to have an innate faculty of charming those who come in contact with them."

PARENTS' OPINION ON DANCE ASKED

A circular letter asking the opinion of the parents of the high school students as to whether dancing and other social functions should be allowed in the high school were sent out yesterday afternoon by Professor Benezet. The letter follows:

To the parents:

From time to time there have been numerous requests made to me by both parents and pupils to hold the dancing parties given by the Boys' Athletic association, and also the Girls' Athletic association in the high school building, instead of in some hall down town hired for the purpose. I laid the matter before the school board the other day, but while the majority of them were personally in favor of allowing the use of the high school building for this purpose, they decided to withhold action until the approval of the majority of the parents of the high school pupils could be secured.

The main arguments advanced against holding the parties in the high school were: 1st—That the building was constructed for the purpose of education and should not be the seat of social gatherings. 2nd—That a great many of our fellow citizens believe that dancing is wrong and harmful and that some of these people would as soon see gambling permitted in the high school building as dancing.

The main arguments that have been made in favor of the proposition are: 1st—That young people will dance any way, whether they are allowed to do so in the high school or not, just as long as their parents permit it. 2nd—That as it is, the dances are held in places where it is impossible to prevent the boys from smoking, in halls often located close to saloons where an undesirable element is more likely to creep in than if the parties took place in the high school building. 3rd—That it would mean a saving of many dollars to the young people, who would then be spared the expense of hiring a hall and an orchestra, as the members of the high school orchestra have volunteered their services for dances held in the building.

In sending out this circular letter I am morally carrying out the wishes of many parents who have requested that we hold the dances in the high school building, and following the suggestion made by the board of education. We would like, if you please, a frank expression of your opinion. May I ask you please to write yes or no on the lower half of this sheet, sign and return it to me promptly through your son or daughter.

Very respectfully yours

LABOR LEADERS' CASE TO BE APPEALED

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—If the report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor is adopted as presented, there will be an appeal to the supreme court of the United States of the jail sentences imposed on President Gompr, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison by the courts of the District of Columbia.

The report recommends such action and demands jury trials for contempt cases growing out of labor difficulties. The federation will vote on the report at tomorrow's session, and it is believed the document will be adopted without material changes.

BASHFUL SWAINS NEED PRIVATE OFFICE

At this session of the county board, County Clerk Charles H. Rawlinson will ask the board to build a private office about his desk in the clerks office.

Mr. Rawlinson says the necessity for an office of this kind is imperative because of the large number of marriage licenses he issues annually to bashful swains who are timid in giving up statistics regarding themselves when loungers about his office have opportunity to overhear their conversation.

GOTCH BEATS THE ITALIAN CHAMPION

The Iowa Mat Artist Has a Laughable Time Winning in Three Straight Falls

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Mat fans today predicted that Frank Gotch, wrestling champion of the world, will have to retire unbeaten, so easily has he overcome all opposition so far. His victory over Giovanni Ralevich, the Italian champion last night, was so easy as to be laughable at times. Fifteen thousand followers of the game cheered themselves hoarse when Gotch pinned the Italian's shoulders to the mat in straight falls. Ralevich never had a chance and was outclassed at all stages. In the first fall Gotch once tried his toe hold but the Italian broke it and the champion swiftly shifted to the crotch and bar arm hold and put his opponent down in 16:28. The second fall was short and decisive, Gotch employed a combination of holds—the cross leg and hammer and wrist lock, defeating Ralevich in 5:28.

Ralevich was badly blown at the close while Gotch did not seem disturbed.

Wabasha Coming

Next Saturday the Wabasha high school comes here for a game and as the up river aggregation is considered a worthy opponent lively work will necessarily be gone through this week. Wabasha defeated Sparta by a large score and unless La Crosse wins next Saturday their chances of defeating Sparta, on Thanksgiving day, are small as Sparta has improved a great deal since their defeat at the hands of Wabasha.

The football boys need the support of the citizens of La Crosse as well as the students and it is hoped by the management that a large crowd will turn out for the next two games and help cheer the local team. Only two games have been played on the home grounds this year, these being practice contests, and unless the two games with Sparta and Wabasha are well attended it is not likely that La Crosse can again afford to hire a competent coach.

GIRL ASSAULTED AND MURDERED

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 10.—The body of Miss Anna Pelley, 24, assaulted and murdered Monday, was found Tuesday by children in an alley in the residence section here.

NEW ROOSEVELT FAKE STORY STARTS

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Ever since an enterprising Parisian newspaper "faked" an interview with former President Roosevelt as the latter was enroute to Africa on his hunting trip the French newspapers have devoted much space to exploitation of America's former chief executive while paying but little attention to facts in their stories.

Saturday, the correspondent of the Temps announced "on unquestionable authority," that Mrs. Roosevelt had received a telegram that her band was gravely ill with the dreaded swamp fever.

Now comes the Petit Parisienne with a new "dream." Under a Rome date line from its staff correspondent in the Italian capital it avers that the real reason for Roosevelt's presence in Africa has been carefully withheld. It asserts he is there on a "campaign of territorial aggression" and insists that the hunt is a "mere pretext covering a political collusion."

This "commission," according to the correspondent, is the exploration of certain parts of Africa so it can be prepared for American occupation and settlement.

Just how this territory is to be "grabbed" or who is "back of" the scheme, the correspondent fails to state.

Heirs to the estate of $2,000 left by the late Rev. W. D. Thomas have been found by Administrator J. A. Rowles in Wales and Austria.

Some time ago the administrator in an old trunk located some of the personal papers left by the late divine and among these were found letters from relatives. The inquiries which resulted disclosed the fact that the following relatives of the doctor are living in the old country: Charlotte Isaac sister, residing in Queensland; Mary Jones, sister, residing in Wales; and William Jones, a son of another sister, living in another part of Wales. The administrator has written for proof of relationship to all of the heirs and the estate will be equally divided between them.

COMMISSION HAS TO TAKE A TRAIN

DUBUQUE, Nov. 10.—Just when the old Mississippi should have her best foot front, she's cuttin' up capers which may cost advocates of a deeper channel the coveted appropriation. The steamer David Tiptop, bearing the federal waterways commission, army officers and Waterway commissioner Reid of La Crosse had so much trouble above Dubuque the commission was obliged to get off here and take a train for Rock Island.

The Tiptop hopes to take the commissioners on again there for the remainder of the journey to St. Louis. Sand bars and fogs were the cause of the difficulty. Commissioner Stevens says he is now more than ever convinced of the necessity of a 6-foot channel.

LOVE AND CARBOLIC; TOO FOOLISH TO WED

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Just as a policeman snatched a bottle of carbolac acid from the hands of John Muchu, 22, who intended to commit suicide at the home of his fiancée, Miss Mary Boshuk, 20, another policeman rapped on the front door bringing news that the girl was at St. Bernard's Hospital crying for her sweetheart.

Mucha's attempt to take his life was the result of his sweetheart's disappearance and the thought that she did not wish to marry him. The girl was found wandering in the streets and was taken to the hospital where it was said she was suffering from an apparent lapse of memory. When she awoke to consciousness the first question she asked was "where is John?" She explained who she was and then the policeman was sent to her home where John was preparing to make way with himself.

There was a merry party last night to celebrate the girl's recovery and plans were discussed for the wedding.

BAKING POWDER

You simply cannot get as good results from the cheap and big can kind—the baking cannot be as evenly raised—it cannot be as delicious—it cannot be as pure and wholesome—because the quality is not there. And it cannot be any more economical. Calumet is medium in price—the standard 1-lb. size can costs 25c. Less of it is required and the baking is certain to be better. Try one can—if not satisfactory your money will be returned.

SPOTLIGHTS

THE NEW ALASKAN

Virtually an entirely new version of "The Alaskan," a musical comedy of superior merit, will be the attraction at the La Crosse theater tonight.

This is the same production which ran for five consecutive months in Chicago, the past summer, and comes to La Crosse in its new dress and with Chicago's strong stamp of approval written plainly all over it. It is now a bright, cheery entertainment, full of crisp, clean, snappy dialogue, fresh humor of the twentieth century vintage, and, as the book in its entirety has been re-written carefully, many new songs interpolated and a thoroughly competent company. It is sure to be a welcome La Crosse visitor and a popular offering.

The story in brief, concerns Richard Atwater, a young miner who has been grub-staked by a wealthy easterner. Atwater's claim is on the verge of playing out when a letter arrives stating that his benefactor has died, leaving one-half of the mine to his daughter Arlee, and that she, with a party of friends, will come to Alaska. The party arrives about as quickly as the letter. Atwater falls in love with his partner, but the failure with the claim makes it impossible to declare his love. A discovery of a rich vein of gold, and the sale of the mine, brings wealth and happiness and wedding bells join in the finale.

The present production is full of novel, exclusive surprises, and the much heralded "snowball" song is a strong feature. Richard Carroll, Gus Weinberg, Detmar Poppen, Lawrence Coever, Jack Rose, Jessie Stoner, Marion Hall, Etta Lockhart, Marcel Scott, and a large chorus, go to complete probably the strongest laugh producing combination to visit us this season.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

In Henry Miller's production of "The Great Divide," which will be seen in this city at the La Crosse Theater, Saturday, matinee and night two picturesque and decidedly unusual scenes are disclosed. One is a cactus farm in Southern Arizona and the other is a gold miner's hut built of rude stone on a plateau high up in the Catalina mountains. These scenes are veritable triumphs of art and form a striking contrast to the one in which the final act takes place, a typical New England home of the better class. No expense has been spared to make the production perfect in every detail and the cast selected and rehearsed by Mr. Miller give a perfect performance of this truly great American play.

AT THE BIJOU

The Monday matinee and night audiences that greeted this week's bill at the Bijou theater went away with smiling faces and words of the greatest praise for one of the best bills ever presented at this theater.

The show opened with Little Olga, the lady direct from Europe, presenting one of the best aerial contortion acts seen in La Crosse. Little Olga is from far off Norway and has performed before all the rulers of Europe.

The Free Setters Quartet is a head line quartet of gentlemen with excellent voices, refined and singers of great merit. The comedy is portrayed by the blackface member of the four and his coon songs kept the audience in good humor during the entire act.

Carl and Walters, German comedians, with their cross fire talk, kept up their spot on the bill and retired high favorites.

One of the finest sketches seen this season is the one act playlet, "Red Ike," presented by Edward De Corsea, assisted by Miss Helen Le Sage and Jack Carmondy. It deals with frontier life and the love making tactics of Edward De Corsea as the cowboy kept the audience in roars of laughter.

Mabel Raleigh, the Boston school marm, has a fine stage presence and appearance. Her pretty song in the opening displays the excellent voice she possesses. Comical Jack Carmondy, the sky pilot, greatly assists the situations in the sketch and he kept everyone laughing by his persistent lovingkindness to the school marm.

Meyer Levy rendered the illustrated song, "When We Go Marching With George," in his pleasing manner.

The motion pictures that closed this entertaining show are above the standard and have to be seen to be appreciated.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some La Crosse People Know How to Save It

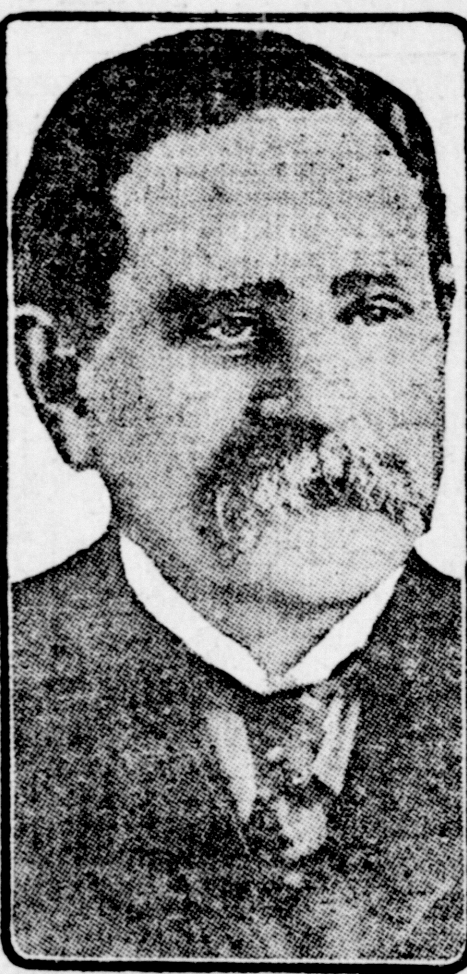

Many La Crosse people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a La Crosse citizen's recommendation:

E. Mable, 320 South Seventh street, La Crosse, Wis., says: "For many years I was annoyed by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions and was unable to find relief until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured my supply at Erhart & Son's drug store and in view of my experience, I have no hesitation in giving them my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LIVE WIRES

Secretary of War, Jacob M. Dickinson, Memphis, Tenn.—Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson declares his willingness to forsake the cabinet and enter the race for United States senator if Tennessee Democracy will agree to bury the hatchet. In an interview Secretary Dickinson said that he would give the country no unseemly spectacle of a cabinet officer making a scramble for office but if this nomination should be proffered him he would make the race. Secretary Dickinson is a southern gentleman by birth and his winning personality made him a factor in politics from early manhood. He was born at Columbus, Miss., January 30, 1851. He graduated at the University of Nashville and entered Columbia law school. Later he attended school at the university of Leipzig and rounded out his education at Paris. On his return to Nashville, he was admitted to the bar and built up a successful practice. He served on the supreme bench. Later he became assistant attorney general of the United States.

TROOPS FIGHT TRIBESMEN

TEHERAN, Nov. 10.—News from Ardebil is that the foreign residents besieged in the Russian consulate by the revolting tribesmen are holding out bravely, hoping to make a successful resistance until the arrival of reinforcements. Seven thousand Persian troops are now on their way to Ardebil traveling by forced marches to relieve the consulate.

ASSAULTED A WOMAN

James Chescher was arrested and brought into county court on a charge of assault and battery brought by Miss Mary Plunkett. He pleaded guilty and asked for leniency on the plea that he was intoxicated. The court sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

Was Firm, but Compromised

The young man had entered that mysterious realm called matrimony, and as it was his first offense his verily threshold of the married life had advice as to how he should treat the young wife.

"When you have any little differences of opinion, my son," he said to the boy, "if you can't persuade Margaret that you are right—and you probably can't, for they are all about you alike—you must compromise. Be firm, yet be considerate and compromise."

"Yes, father," replied the son.

"I well remember a little experience," and a reminiscent expression came over the old man's face, "on the cross-examining lawyer. The of your mother and myself, and it was the basis of all future disputes. It was this way. I wanted to spend the summer, our first vacation together, in Maine, and your mother wanted to go to Saratoga. That was thirty years ago. But I shall never forget how firm and yet how considerate I was with your mother, and how we compromised, avoiding all dispute."

"It was this way. We stayed from Saturday noon to Tuesday morning at Bar Harbor; and then we spent the rest of the summer at Saratoga. Yes, indeed," the old man added with a sigh, "that's the only way to deal with a woman. You must be firm; but be willing to compromise a little once in a while, as I have done with your mother."—Sunday Magazine.

The Ever Delicate Question

"How old are you, madam?" asked the cross-examining lawyer. The woman blushed deeply, and stammering blurted out: "I—I, and stopped short.

The attorney looked guilty. "Please, madam, quickly," he urged in a gentle, kindly voice. "It's getting worse every minute, you know."—Chicago Daily Socialist.

"I am the governor of North Carolina, Mr. Collins. The manner in which I attained that high office is not important. It must suffice that I am in sole charge of the affairs of this great state, without relief from valuation or appraisement laws and without benefit of clergy. And we have much to do here; mere social conversation must await an ampler time. I now appoint you publicity agent to the governor. Your business is to keep the people fooled—all the people all the time. In other words, you are chief liar to the administration, a position of vast responsibility, for which you have, if I am a judge of character, the greatest talents. You will begin by sending out word that Governor Dangerfield has given up all other work at present but the destruction of the Appleweight gang. These stories that the governor has hidden himself to dodge certain duties are all punk—do you understand?—he is serving the people as he has always served them, faithfully and with the noblest self-sacrifice. That's the sort of stuff I want you to jam into the newspapers all over the world. And remember—my name does not appear in the business at all—neither now nor hereafter."

"But by the ghost of John C. Calhoun, don't you see that I'm losing the chance of my life in my own profession? There's a story that would put me to the top and carry me right into New York," and Collins glanced about for his suit-case, as though meditating flight.

"Your appointment has gone into effect," said Ardmore with finality, "and if you bolt you will be caught and made to walk the plank. And so far as your future is concerned, you shall have a newspaper of your own anywhere you please as soon as this war is over."

The three men adjourned to the caboose where Ardmore told Collins all that it seemed necessary for the newspaper man to know; and within half an hour the new recruit had entered thoroughly into the spirit of the adventure, though his mirth occasionally got the better of him, and he bowed his head in his hands and surrendered himself to laughter.

Threatened, until the six o'clock supper was ready, he kept the operator occupied. He sent to the Palladium a thoroughly plausible story giving prominence to the Appleweight case and laying stress on Governor Dangerfield's personality and high sense of official responsibility. He sent queries to leading journals everywhere, offering exclusive news of the rumored disappearance of North Carolina's governor. His campaign of publicity for the state administration was broadly planned, though he was losing a great opportunity to beat the world with a stunning story of the amazing nerve with which Ardmore, the young millionaire, had assumed the duties of governor of North Carolina in the unaccountable absence of Governor Dangerfield from his capital. The whole thing was almost too good to be true, and Collins put away the idea of flight only upon realizing the joyous possibilities of sharing, no matter how humbly, in the fate of an administration which was fashioning the drollest of card houses. He did not know, and was not to know until long afterward, just how the young master of Ardsley had leaped into the breach; but Ardmore was an extraordinary person, whose whims set him quite apart from other men, and while, even if he escaped being shot, the present enterprise would undoubtedly lead to a long jail term, Collins had committed himself to Ardmore's cause and would be faithful to it, no matter what happened.

Ardmore took Collins more fully into his confidence during the lingering twilight, and the reporter made many suggestions that were of real value. Meanwhile Cooke's men brought three horses from the depths of the forest and saddled them. Cooke entered the caboose for a final conference with Ardmore and a last look at the maps.

"Too bad," remarked the acting governor, "that we must wait until tomorrow night to pick up the Appleweights, but our present business is more important. It's time to move, Cooke."

They rode off in single file on the faintest of trails through the woods, Cooke leading and Ardmore and Collins following immediately behind him. The great host of summer stars thronged the sky, and the moon sent its soft effulgence across the night. They presently forded a noisy stream, and while they were seeking the trail again on the farther side an owl hooted a thousand yards up the creek, and while the line re-formed, Cooke paused and listened. Then the owls call was repeated farther off and so faintly that Cooke alone heard it. He laid his hand on Ardmore's rein:

"There's a foot-trail that leads along that creek, and it's very rough and difficult to follow. Half a mile from here there used to be a still, run by one of the Appleweights. We smashed it once, but no doubt they are operating again by this time. That hoot of the owl is a warning common among the pickets put out by these people. Wireless telegraphy isn't in it with them. Every Appleweight within twenty miles will know in half an hour how many there are of us and just what direction we are taking. We must not come back here tonight. We must put up in your place somewhere and let them think, if they will, we are guests of yours out for an evening ride."

"That's all right. Unless we complete this job in about two days my administration is a fizzle," said Ardmore, as they resumed their march through the forest. There was a wider fling to the roll of the land now, but the underbrush was better cleared, and the trail had become a bridle-path that had known man's care.

"This is some of Paul's work," said Ardmore; "and if I am not very much mistaken we are on my land now and headed straight enough for the wagon-road that leads south beyond the red bungalow. These roads in here were planned to give variety, but I never before appreciated how complicated they are."

Th path stretched away through the heavy forest, and they climbed a ridge that commanded a wide region that lay bathed in silver moonlight, so softly luminous that it seemed of the stuff of shadows made light. Westward a mile distant, lay Ardsley, only a little below the level of the ridge and touched with a faint purple as of spring twilight.

TAFT'S HANDICAP

It is quite generally felt in the United States that President William H. Taft is carrying too much weight. This is not a trifling reference to the president's avoirdupois but to the milestones about his neck, the greatest of which is Ballinger.

To judge fully the merits of the controversy between Ballinger and Pinchot, Ballinger and Glavis, in fact between Ballinger and every real conservationist, may not be possible now, but enough is known to convince the American public that the secretary of the Interior is reactionary, pro-monopolistic and not above dissembling.

In The Tribune yesterday there appeared in full the charges made by Mr. Glavis against Ballinger. That they are serious charges we say with all due respect to President Taft's official decision that they are trivial. The president, in the text of the decision, begged the question, nor did he convince readers that he had taken his investigation of the matter so seriously as to arrive at an accurate conclusion. Glavis is vouching for by many of the most substantial men of the country as reliable and honest; he has no detractors who are able to discredit him with facts, and Mr. Ballinger's reply might be condensed into the "shorter and uglier word" without showing a single statement to support his counter accusation.

The charitable view is that President Taft has faith in Ballinger, and is being misled by him as to the facts. However, the matter of conserving 91 billions of tons of coal, or the alternative of letting them go to monopolists upon fraudulent entry, is of enough importance to challenge the most serious attention of the president, and if he has accepted the bare word of one whose motives are impeached by his public acts as conclusive in a matter of this magnitude, he has been recreant to duty.

The president has not so conducted himself as to inspire confidence in him among his partisans. Excuses have been made for that. He has not won favor by his attitude over the controversy between Ballinger and Pinchot; excuses have been made for that. He is generally believed to have made a great mistake in whitewashing Ballinger and attempting to discredit Glavis, and now excuses are being made for that. In each case the excuse is that the president has been misled. His apologists are picturing him as an incompetent lest he be regarded as false to his protestations for tariff reduction and conservation. It is a bad alternative, and a very great man could not long stand the strain of the predicament.

Senator La Follette has said that Ballinger must go. Other progressives have said as much. There are now a great many people who believe the question of who shall go is not between Ballinger and Pinchot, or Ballinger and Glavis, but between Ballinger and Taft. There have been one term presidents, and the insurgent republicans, with their growing strength fostered by a public consciousness of the right that is with them, are men who will no more hesitate to express their views in a national convention than in the halls of congress.

THE dedication of the normal school today is an event which appeals to every intelligent citizen as making a high water mark on the tide of the educational interests of La Crosse and of this whole section of the state.

The occasion is not so much one of festivity as that of a statesmanlike inauguration of the new opportunity and larger facilities now offered, not only for a higher grade of education generally, but for an adapted equipment of persons who are to be the teachers of the coming generation.

The dedication program speaks for itself as a promise of a feast of good things intellectually. We have had occasion to be proud of our city for its educational opportunities and this added institution is an achievement for which we have to thank those men who have given much time and thought to it.

To steal a kiss is natural. To buy one is stupid. Two girls kissing is a waste of time. To kiss one's sister is proper. To kiss one's wife is an obligation. To kiss an old, faded woman is devotion. To kiss a young blushing girl is—quite a different thing. To kiss one's rich aunt is hypocrisy. Kissing three girls on the same day is extravagance. To kiss one's mother-in-law is a holy sacrifice.—The Sun.

Statesmanship "Well, they've elected Blingsby to Congress."

"What! Did that soulless, trucking, lowdown politician—"

"Yes, and he told me he would push your name for local postmaster."

"Oh—Blingsby? Why, I didn't understand the name. That fellow's all right, and I've always said so. He's got the makings of a statesman—Blingsby!"—Lippincott's.

The seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Hansen sustained a broken collar bone by falling on the sidewalk yesterday.

ENGINE COLLIDES WITH BOX CARS

A string of ten cars being switched down the tracks in the yards of the Milwaukee road south of the round house yesterday afternoon, crashed into switch engine No. 1182, smashing one box car and the front of the engine. Engineer Floyd Green and Fireman Heinke saved themselves from injury by jumping.

The engine was switching in the yards when the string of cars was pushed down the same track. The wreck was cleared up and the engine is being repaired at the round house.

NORTH SIDE COUPLE WED THIS MORNING

Joseph Miller and Miss Louise Sieger were quietly married at St. John's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning by Rev. Kaluza. Only intimate friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

Engineer Sanborn, Minneapolis,

Suffers Broken

Thigh, and Fireman

May Lose Eye

An extra freight, in charge of Conductor George Fox, Engineer Henderson and Fireman Byron Weeden, all of Minneapolis, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, running on the time of mail train No. 57, crashed into the mail at Richmond at 5:20 o'clock this morning, demolishing both engines and piling up about 15 of the freight cars in a heap of wreckage. Engineer Charles Sanborn of the mail train and Fireman Byron Weeden of the freight train were injured and are now at the St. Francis hospital. Their injuries are not serious, the former having a broken thigh and the latter an injured eye.

The fast mail train on the Milwaukee, leaves the north side station at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, carries seven coaches of mail matter and no passengers, and passes directly through on the main line without coming to the south side. The train changes crews at the north side. At 4:30 o'clock this morning the train pulled out of the station in charge of Conductor Conley, Minneapolis, with Engineer Charles Sanborn and Fireman Kramer, Minneapolis in the engine cab. As the train was pulling into the station at Richmond, at about 5:20 o'clock, the engineer saw the extra freight tearing down on the same track. He stopped the mail train as quickly as possible, threw in the reverse and was backing up when the freight train struck the engine. The crews in both of the engines jumped before the smash came. Sanborn and Kramer leaped down the embankment, a distance of about sixteen feet, the engineer receiving injuries. Weeden was badly cut in one eye and about the face. Mail Clerk McDonough, Chicago, had one ear badly torn. The injured men were taken back to the city by another engine, which was sent to the scene of the wreck immediately after it had been reported to the offices here. They were taken to the St. Francis hospital, where their injuries were dressed by Dr. S. J. Egan. It is feared that Fireman Weeden will lose his eye. Their families at Minneapolis were notified and Mrs. Sanborn arrived in the city this noon.

The wrecking crew was sent to the place and is still at work clearing up the smashed cars. The wrecking outfit from Minneapolis was ordered out to assist the local men.

Engineer F. O. Lampman, with way freight engine No. 133 was dispatched to Richmond and brought the seven mail coaches back to the city. They were sent out over the Burlington line shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, being pulled by engine No. 3503 in charge of Engineer Nennerdy and Conductor W. V. Randall.

The two engines were badly smashed and about sixteen of the freight cars were completely demolished. The mail coaches were but slightly damaged being in condition to continue the trip to Minneapolis after slight repairing. A string of ten empty box cars were sent to Richmond this morning to pick up the freight that is not damaged.

The wreck delayed freight traffic seriously and also the passenger traffic. Passenger No. 3 due at the local station at 6:10 this morning was 25 minutes late and as the line was still blocked at Richmond, the train was sent out over the Burlington lines, the track having been sufficiently cleared to permit passage.

The wreck will be completely investigated by the officials of the road in an effort to place the blame for the accident.

RUSSIAN COSSACKS TO FACE 3,000 SAVAGES

TEHERAN, Nov. 10.—Messages reaching here today smuggled from the besieged Russian consulate at Ardabil says that unless help reaches the garrison within 24 hours the consulate will fall. Three thousand Cossacks surround the consulate and the handful of Russian soldiers which constitutes the defending force is practically at the end of its ammunition.
The tribesmen have sacked the native quarter of the town and pillaged the bazaars. The consulate is the only building now holding out against them and their entire force has been concentrated about the refuge of the foreign residents.

COFFEE
Monday afternoon Miss Katherine Hackner entertained at a coffee in honor of Miss Anna Boma, who is soon to be married. The time was pleasantly passed in needlework and conversation. The guests presented Miss Boma with a handsome handkerchief folder filled with handkerchiefs. Those present were the Misses Anna and Ida Boma, Bertha and Tessie Hickisch, Grace Cameron, Julia Hackner and Mrs. H. N. Boehm.

FORMER LA CROSSE GIRL WEDS
At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Second Presbyterian parsonage on Adair avenue Putnam, Wis., was solemnized the wedding of Mrs. Mae La May and Mr. Willard Leach. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald M. Ross and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fritz and Mr. and Mrs. Needham. Following the wedding a supper was served at their home on Moxahala avenue.

The bride has conducted a boarding house in Putnam for more than a year, going there from La Crosse.

DINNER
Misses Mayme and Kerne Foster entertained at six o'clock dinner Saturday Messrs. Felix and Moritz Muetze of St. Paul.
Large assorted chrysanthemums were the prevailing flowers.
After dinner was served Mr. Felix Muetze rendered several cello solos delightfully and masterfully.
He has acquired a marked mastery of the instrument, the cello, and is a born artist. Mr. Moritz rendered a violin solo in a skilful and artistic manner. Miss Kern Foster was the piano accompanist and rendered her parts in an artistic manner.

The Messrs. Muetze have held first positions with the St. Paul symphony orchestra at St. Paul for several years but will leave for Cincinnati, O., where they have positions with the Symphony there.

MORE BIRTHS THAN DEATHS IN OCTOBER
La Crosse people are not dying off faster than they are born, according to the monthly report of Health Officer Anton Murphy, but his report discloses the fact that men are getting scarce.
There were thirty-five deaths in October, while forty-six were born. Of this number, however, twenty-six men died, while thirty-two were born. There were only nine female deaths and twenty-four female births.
According to the report forty-six marriages have been filed, and but ten accidents reported.

COLLEGE MEN HOLD BEST POSITIONS

So Says President Van Hise in Address Before La Crosse High School Students Today

College men today hold practically every position of worth, according to President Van Hise of the state university, who this morning addressed the students of the La Crosse high school.

Education has made a marked advance during the last generation, according to Van Hise, and college education is more in demand than ever. He urged the students to secure as much of an education as their means would allow, pointing out the necessity of knowledge in this age. Without knowledge, he claimed, a man is practically against a stone wall as far as advancement is concerned.

President Van Hise, following his address at the high school, spent the morning riding about the city with Dr. Edward Evans of La Crosse.

ORCHESTRA BALL A SPLENDID AFFAIR

Friday evening, November 12, the members of Andre's orchestra and band will give a grand ball at Linker's hall. Fourth and Main streets. The members of the orchestra will furnish the music and one of the many features of the evening will be the playing, for the first time in La Crosse, thirty new dance selections, all the latest compositions. The complete orchestra of fourteen men will furnish the music for this delightful affair, which in itself is a guarantee of a good time for all who attend.

Tickets are on sale for the affair and an admission of fifty cents will be charged.

TELEPHONE GIRL PREVENTS ROBBERY

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 10.—An attempt by three men to rob the state bank at August, 14 miles east of this city, was this morning frustrated by Mrs. Grace Horner, manager of the Citizens Telephone Exchange. At 2 o'clock she heard suspicious noises about the bank next door to the exchange. She aroused the village marshal, John Williams, who found a horse and buggy in front of the exchange and the occupant said his son was upstairs telephoning for a doctor. While the marshal investigated the man drove away at a furious rate.

Behind the side of the bank the marshal saw the prowler. A bullet grazed the top of his head. A dozen shots were fired and the robbers started to run. Williams followed and was very close when his ammunition gave out.

THE SUFFRAGETTES SHOULD MAKE NOISE

CHICAGO, No. 10.—The hurdy gurdy is mightier than the pen—or the voice—and the American suffragette of the future will roam about armed with first class noise making devices to attract attention to the cause.

Miss Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, declares, "music hath charms to soothe the savage beast of man," and that "men who have not got sense enough to listen to reason will pay close attention to hurdy gurdies."
"Demonstrations are necessary to win votes," she said. "By demonstration I mean banners should float bearing the legend 'Votes for women'; there should be music speeches from the curb and an abundance of noise. We are preparing to present to congress a petition signed by a million women asking for equal suffrage, but unless we make a big demonstration over it, congress will not pay any attention to it."

LA CROSSE HAS MANY WEDDINGS

According to the figures of Miss Klauudia Nelson, assistant county registrar of deeds, with whom the vital statistics for the period extending from October, 1907, and Jan. 1, 1909, are filed, there were 450 weddings solemnized in this county. This is a perceptible increase over the figures of the year previous.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HAVE SAVED $895.17

The Penny Savings committee met with Mrs. Paul Pamperin, 130 south Ninth street Saturday evening. Most of the time was spent considering and comparing the tabulated reports which the members had gathered from some of the school districts. The reports show the per cent of children who are using the penny savings and the per cent who had bank accounts before the penny savings was started. Previous to this study it has seemed from the sale of stamps that some of the grades did not take kindly to the thought of saving. In Prof. Donaldson's eighth grade of 60 pupils only five buy stamps but investigation shows that 52 pupils have previously started bank accounts. This is a remarkable and splendid showing in regard to early habits of thrift.
Last week was a record breaker in both banks in regard to the num-

How to Save Time Washing Dishes.
Very few housewives realize the amount of time they spend in the year just dishwashing, although they do appreciate its tiresome routine. However, if handled in a systematic way this task would not take one-half as long or be one-half as disagreeable. Have plenty of towels and hot water. Scrub the dishes clean as possible and those most soiled should be rinsed in hot or cold water before putting in the dish pan. White of egg, gelatine and similar substances, should be removed from dishes with cold water. Greasy foods require hot water. Cover the dishes with hot water, in which a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder has been dissolved. This is more convenient and effective than soap. Wash, rinse in clean, warm water and dry.

DRUGGIST

MILLION DOLLARS TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Physicians engaged in the fight against the white plague, declare a great forward step was taken last night at the home of Henry Phipps, the New York millionaire, when a score of philanthropists formed an unique institution, "The Tuberculosis Preventorium for Children."

It purposes taking from the tenements children who have been infected with tuberculosis but who can be saved. It is the first institution of its kind in the country to try and save the child in the first stages of tuberculosis.

Nathan Strauss has already given the Grover Cleveland cottage at Lakewood, N. J., for the cause and gave his $500,000 interest in the Lakewood hotel for an institution. Miss Dorothy Whitney donated $100,000 in cash. Four hundred children a year can be taken care of for $100,000 without expense to the parents. The trustees desire an endowment of $1,000,000.

WALTER JORDAN'S ESTATE IS $30

Application for an administrator in the estate of Walter Jordan, who was recently found dead on the Northwestern tracks where he had been struck by a train, was made today by his sister, Miss Kate Jordan of Chicago, and the appointment was made by the court. Mr. Jordan's remains were identified by his relatives yesterday. His estate consists of about $20 in wages due him from the construction contractors of the railway company with which he had been employed. Out of this sum the funeral expenses will be paid.

TERRE HAUTE THEATER BURNS

SOME HARD KNOCKS Woman Gets Rid of "Coffee Habit"

The injurious action of Coffee on the heart of many persons is well known by physicians to be caused by caffeine. This is the drug found by chemists in coffee and tea.

A woman suffered a long time with severe heart trouble and finally her doctor told her she must give up coffee as that was the principal cause of the trouble. She writes:

"My heart was so weak it could not do its work properly. My husband would sometimes have to carry me from the table, and it would seem that I would never breathe again. The doctor told me that coffee was causing the weakness of my heart. He said I must stop it, but it seemed I could not give it up until I was down in bed with nervous prostration.

"For eleven weeks I lay there and suffered. Finally Husband brought home some Postum and I quit coffee and started new and right. Slowly I got well. Now I do not have any headaches, nor those spells with weak heart. We know it is Postum that helped me. The Dr. said the other day, 'I never thought you would be what you are.' I used to weigh 92 pounds and now I weigh 158.

"Postum has done much for me and I would not go back to coffee again for any money, for I believe it would kill me if I kept at it. Postum must be well boiled according to directions on pkg., then it has a rich flavor and with cream is fine."

Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

1894; Superior, 1896; and La Crosse, September 7, 1909. In addition to the eight normal schools there is a splendid educational department in the university and twenty-four county training schools for the training of teachers for the country schools. With these excellent institutions so well distributed over the state there can be no excuse for the employment of poorly prepared teachers even in the remotest districts of this great commonwealth.

Need of Training
Turning to the purposes of normal schools, Prof. Cotton dealt with arguments demonstrating that, while perhaps less technical, teachers and preachers are as much dependent for efficiency and success upon special training as are doctors and lawyers.

Dealing with qualification of teachers, the president maintained that equipment does not always make the teacher, that there is something in-born in some men and women that makes them teachers, and that without this spark of genius one cannot become in the highest sense a teacher. "Great teachers, like great musicians and poets are born, but like great musicians and poets they must be born again," he said, and he pictured this second birth as the inspiration that is awakened by training, the zeal, the painstaking, the knowledge. This knowledge must not be "knowing about subjects," but "knowing the subjects themselves," the idea impressed being that mere information about a subject is insufficient, and that there must be familiarity and intimacy incorporating what may be termed an instinctive inner comprehension.

Teacher vs. Instructor
"There is," said the speaker, "a vital difference between a mere instructor and a real teacher. It is the same difference that exists between a cyclopedia and a man, between a dead machine and a real flesh and blood man or woman throbbing and pulsating with life. The instructor may impart facts; the teacher imparts truth. To the instructor the end is knowledge; to the teacher, it is manhood and womanhood, and his subject is his means. Of course, this difference is largely accounted for by the personality of the teacher. There is a subtle something in the life of every man and woman that in the final analysis determines what he or she is. It isn't knowledge—it isn't skill—it isn't special aptitude—it is just the man or woman. And this something will determine the kind of a teacher he or she will be. How far a school of pedagogy can modify or mould this something it is difficult to say. That it can do something, indeed much, towards inspiring genuine manhood and womanhood no one can doubt. It certainly can do much to enable young men and women to steer clear of the shoals that wreck so many in the teaching profession."

Two Kinds of Work.
Prof. Cotton discussed the problems with which normals are confronted, pointing out that the varied and sometimes limited learning of students entering normals made necessary academic as well as professional training. The professional feature of the work he divided into theoretical and practical. Theoretical comprises psychology, history of education, school management and method. Actual work and observation is the practical side.

The model training department occupied considerable attention, the speaker maintaining that it is "final test of a school for teachers," and that "there must be harmony and unity of purpose if the school is to succeed."

That high school and college teachers need the special training of the normal was the emphatic observation of Prof. Cotton.

For Right Teachers.
Prof. Cotton closed with a strong appeal for appreciation of the trained, sympathetic teacher as opposed to the harsh, sarcastic, fussy teacher who "is an absolute injury to character and ought not to be tolerated."

NOTABLES HEARD AT GREAT EVENT

song was rendered by a double quartette, and State Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary then extended the greetings from the public schools of the state. He took occasion during his address to characterize the La Crosse institution as the most modern in equipment in the state.

Schools Send Greetings
John A. H. Keith, president of the Oshkosh state normal school, brought the greetings of the state normal schools of Wisconsin.

"America" by the audience, and the benediction of the Rev. S. L. McKee, West Salem, Wis., closed this afternoon's services.

Supper for Visitors
A supper for the outside guests who attended the dedication is to be given at 6 o'clock tonight by the ladies of the Universalist church, in the church parlors, Sixth and King streets.

Beginning at 8 o'clock tonight a concert by Kreutz's orchestra will be given in the auditorium of the new building and immediately after this Congressman John J. Esch, La Crosse, will deliver the address of the evening.

Gives School's History
No special subject has been chosen by Mr. Esch but he will discuss the legislative side of the La Crosse school, from the time the movement for the new school was started in the state legislature in 1895.

Following the address of Congressman Esch the normal school regents, and members of the faculty of the institution will meet visitors in the school library and they will be escorted through the building.

SLOW DIGESTION

A Frequent Form of Stomach Trouble Readily Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

This complaint constitutes one of the most common forms of dyspepsia. It is the bane of those who ignore natural laws, and forget that the healthy action of the stomach is dependent on the condition of both body and mind. Those whose pursuits oblige them to pass much of their time within doors; men of letters, and of business, whose minds are seldom perfectly relaxed, administrators, speculators, financiers, and the various professional men fall ready victims to it.

Slow digestion occurs in persons of all temperaments and habits, but oftenest in those of irritable, or nervous disposition, and anxious aspect of countenance, who are popularly characterized as "dyspeptic looking." Eating too rapidly is a common, exciting cause of the disorder, as is also imperfect mastication of food from loss of teeth.

There is also a deficiency of the gastric juices, and an insufficiency of the motor and muscular, or churning movements of the stomach walls, and the food remains entirely too long in his organ, instead of being passed down into the small intestines at the proper time.

Even a dinner not exceeding the ordinary limits is followed at varying intervals, but usually within an hour, by a feeling of weight and oppression in the stomach. For several hours afterward the person experiences decided discomfort, and should even a light supper be taken, horrible night-mare and troubled dreams are certain to result.

"I should be quite well, if it were not necessary to eat," is a common statement made by sufferers from this form of stomach complaint. Many of them actually dread the approach of meal time, knowing what disagreeable symptoms they are sure to experience after eating; and would doubtless discontinue the ingestion of food into their stomachs altogether if it were possible to live without eating.

There is really no necessity whatever for depriving one's self of the pleasures of the table, or to starve the rest of the system because the stomach is derelict in its duty, and does not digest the food as quickly or as thoroughly as it should.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets compel the stomach to perform its functions properly and assist it very materially in the discharge of its duties. A single grain of the principal digestive ingredient of these tablets being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of food. They not only digest the food, however, but also tone up and strengthen the peristaltic, and the motor functions, so that the food will not remain in the stomach longer than necessary. Every case of slow digestion and all other forms of dyspepsia are readily curable by the use of these tablets which make up the gastric deficiency, and supply the disordered stomach with exactly the same digestive juices that are found in a healthy vigorous stomach.

Purchase a package of these wonderful digestors from your druggist today for 50 cents and cure yourself of your dyspepsia. Send us your name and address, and we will forward you a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Company, 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

by methods which the department recognizes as technically illegal, although employed without objection by former President Roosevelt. The result will be the dissipation of these billions worth of rich government property before anything can be done to save it.

Reaction May Win
In view of the fact that there are now pending bills by Senator Gugenheim and others paying the way to the entering and association as a monopoly of great and rich areas of the public domain, bills which it is feared congress is more likely to pass than it is to pass restrictive measures, the friends of conservation view the situation with grave apprehension.

Judge Karel Coming.
Judge Ikey Karel of Milwaukee will deliver an address before the members of the Elks' club at the club rooms Sunday, Dec. 5. Mr. Karel is known as one of the able speakers of Milwaukee.

have been established in a number of counties. But when the real need of training a large number of boys and girls for useful occupations is considered, the present provisions are wholly inadequate. Every municipality should have a trade school, and most of the counties of the state need agricultural training schools."

Wisconsin System is Strong
After pointing out these needs of the Wisconsin system of education, President Van Hise went on to show that the organization and relation of the existing schools was in many respects a most effective one. One important reason for this, he pointed out, is the fact that there is no overlapping, no duplication of work. Each part of the system from the kindergarten to the university has been provided to do a specific part of the educational work of the state, and ought not to be permitted to encroach upon another part. Co-operation, not rivalry, should be the ideal relation between the several parts of the school system.

Schools and Colleges Co-Operate
Great progress has already been made, the speaker pointed out, toward such co-operation in the relation of the mining trade school and the agricultural county schools to the university, and of the normal schools to the university through the four years' course in the training of teachers. Not only has there been co-ordination and co-operation between the public institutions, but similar amicable ties have been established between the university and the private institutions, such as the academies and colleges of the state.

The state of Wisconsin is extremely fortunate and very exceptional in having no overlapping of work and such a degree of co-operation of existing agencies, said President Van Hise. "It is clear that the development of the future should be on the line of the principles of the past. In the future development of the trade schools, agricultural schools, normal schools, and the university, these principles of co-operation and co-ordination should be the guiding ones, and needless duplication of work prevented."

The suggestion has been made that the normal schools be permitted to give work equal to the first two years of arts in the university without professional training for teachers. There are many advantages in this proposal. It would undoubtedly bring more students into the work of liberal arts, and thus make it possible to strengthen the knowledge side of instruction in the normal schools. It would enable parents to send children who have graduated from high school to the normal school near their homes, and thus keep them within parental control for a longer time. It would enlarge the field of the normal schools, and thus strengthen it and make it more popular.

"The only objection to the proposal of having the normal schools do the first two years of college work is that it will interfere with the professional training of teachers for which the normal schools are primarily instituted. This objection I do not believe is a sound one. I believe that the professional work in the preparation for teaching can better be done in an institution which has also a curriculum of arts than in one that consists of a professional school alone. This has been demonstrated in the case of professional schools closely related to the college of arts and sciences in some of our higher institutions of learning, like the university of Wisconsin."

"This proposal is in line with the recent report of organization of all state universities of the United States which recognize that the work of the first two years of the university is essentially a continuation of high school work, and that work of a strictly university grade begins in the third year. The work of the first two years of college work, therefore, can be done by the normal schools advantageously and economically. Advanced and higher professional work can then be concentrated in the university, for it could be uneconomical to maintain this type of work requiring extensive equipment in the day of laboratories and libraries in several schools in the state instead of concentrating it in the state university, which already has the equipment for doing it effectively."

GOODFELLOWS MEET; PLAY GAMES AND EAT
The Goodfellows' club held a social meeting at their club rooms last evening, about fifty guests attending. The evening was passed in playing games, music and other pastimes. A bounteous feast was prepared for the occasion.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.
County Clerk Charles H. Rawlinson has issued the following marriage licenses today:

F. C. Van Derwerter, Winona to Miss Elsie Struck, Onalaska.

Casimer Brey to Miss Christine Schmidt, La Crosse.

Albert Datcher, Melrose, to Miss Della Maack, Burr Oak.

STOCKTON P. M. IS HELD UP FOR $800
STOCKTON, Minn., Nov. 10. —(Special.)—A. F. Swindler, the local postmaster and general merchant, was held up and robbed of $800 in cash and severely beaten by a lone robber shortly after 9 o'clock last evening. The postmaster was knocked to the ground, overpowered and relieved of a heavy wallet containing $800. Up to late this afternoon, Sheriff Parr of Winona, which is about four miles from this village, had apprehended no one.

COUNTY FARM IS RUN AT A LOSS

Supervisor Roessler, Greenfield, Says that County would Be Better Off $450 Without Farm

That the county of La Crosse would be better off to the extent of $450, had it not conducted a farm during the past year, is the statement made to the La Crosse county board of supervisors at the meeting this morning by Supervisor Herman Roessler of the town of Greenfield.

Mr. Roessler said that he based his assertion on figures which he had prepared himself from the report of the county overseer presented to the board yesterday. He declares that outrageous prices are paid for labor and supplies, and called attention to a bill of $21.00 for cutting 284 bushels of rye, and also to an additional bill of $4.50 for binder twine. He said that the grain could easily be cut for three cents a bushel. The price paid for wood, namely $5.50 was exorbitant, as wood can be purchased cheaper even in the city.

Finds Deficit of $450
The actual difference between the income and outlay in conducting the farm, Mr. Roessler figured, was a deficit of $450 for the year, but he afterward admitted that he had neglected to figure milk and dairy products consumed at the farm in his estimate.

Supervisor Oscar Hulberg recommended cutting the salary of the county physician. He said that the doctor had drawn $1,200 in the past year for thirty-three visits to the farm. Supervisor William Dwyer called attention to the city report of the county physician showing a great number of other calls.

Hauser on the Carpet
Poor Commissioner John Hauser was called before the board to explain the deficiencies in the county poor commissioner's report. He said that no inventory had been taken at the farm at the beginning of the fiscal year, so the commissioners were unable to say what they started with. He also explained the lack of inventory in the present report, by saying that such inventories had never been taken before.

Hauser Not to Blame
The chair excused Mr. Hauser saying that the poor commissioners were really not to blame as such inventories had not been customary in the past. Abel Moore of Onalaska declared that owing to the fact that no inventory had been taken at the beginning of the year no knowledge could be gained from the figures of Mr. Roessler.

Following appropriations were made in accepting the report of the committees on finances and ways and means; for county poor and insane department for the coming year $15,000; for the county agricultural school, $9,000 and for the circuit court $11,000.

Supervisors Wolf, Baker and Lehnen were named by the chair as the committee to fix the salaries of county officials for the coming year.

To Re-refer Reports
Motions were made by Supervisors Abel Moore and William Bradley, that the minority and majority reports of the county board equalization committee be re-referred to the committee with instructions for the members to try to effect a compromise. Despite the fact that Supervisor Roessler, who was a member of the committee objected this action was taken by a vote of 20 to 16.

Shortly before noon the board adjourned until three o'clock in order to allow the members to take dinner at the county poor farm and inspect the institution. While the board was at the farm, Chairman Davis and several of the other supervisors drove out to the McGillivray bridge to look over the needed repairs there.

Veterans Fewer
At yesterday afternoon's session of the board Judge Edward Cronon, as president and secretary for the Soldiers' Relief Commission made report that out of the sum of $2,000 which was appropriated last year for soldiers' relief, there was left in the treasury $220, just enough to carry the commission through the month of November, until the new appropriation is made.

There are now only 69 names left, declared Mr. Cronon, who receive aid, and thirty-seven children dependent are upon them. In the month of July, the speaker said, soldiers and widows drawing pension have been eliminated from aid in order to allow the appropriation to last throughout the year.

Mr. Cronon declared that the sum of $2,000 is enough for next year, and requested that this sum be set aside by the county board for soldiers' relief, but that a new method be determined upon for distributing the aid.

Report on Schools
Barney F. Oltman, county superintendent of schools, reported that there are seventy schools and 88 teachers in La Crosse county. These schools are attended by 4,139 children which is a decrease of 587 over ten years ago. Of these children, not more than 165 reside more than two miles from the school house.

According to the superintendent's figures, the average wage paid teachers in this county is $34.35 per month. He declared that the new La Crosse Normal school opening this year has taken a large number of the young women of the county who would otherwise be available as teachers, and that as a result of this and also of the low wage paid teachers are very scarce this year and it is impossible to weed out the poor teachers, inasmuch, as it has been necessary to import teachers from outside the county.

There is now on hand in La Crosse county for school purposes $10,463.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

Not only its proven ability to cure, but its absolute safety as a remedy has made S. S. S. the most desirable of all medicines for the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison. S. S. Mr. Oltman spoke highly of the institute work and special training taken up by the teachers in the past year, commenting upon the one day's work done by the La Crosse county and city teachers at this city last summer, which was attended by over two hundred teachers.

it in La Crosse. The resolution was unanimously adopted by the board and proved to be a tremendous force in convincing the legislature that another school was needed. I want to thank those who are regents now, for the interest they have taken in the school, and the generosity they have shown in respect to it. Last but not least, I desire to thank the members of the legislature who voted to appropriate the money for the building; in short, I want to thank every one who in any way or at any time helped the project along.

A Great Occasion
This is an unusual occasion. It is now nearly fifteen years since the last normal school was established in this state. The dedication of a normal school is not an everyday occurrence in Wisconsin, nor indeed, in any state.

"This is a remarkable occasion, one long to be remembered by all of us. People have come from many parts of the state. We have with us a great president of a great university—President Van Hise. Perhaps no man has done more to make the university serve the people, to bring it closer to the people—to make education a tool to be used by its possessor rather than merely something to adorn. Our university today is recognized as one of the great in the nation and in the world.

Those Who Aided
"The state superintendent of public instruction is with us. Superintendent Cary has left no stone unturned in his effort to bring the common schools of the state up to the university, and to so co-ordinate the work of both as to best serve the public. He has done more than all the superintendents before him to remove the public school system of this state from the corrupting and debauching influences of politics.

"We have with us, too, the presidents of all the normal schools of the state. These men have done and are doing, splendid work, and as a result of their work the standard of efficiency in the teaching profession has been and will be materially raised all over the state. Upon their shoulders rest great responsibilities, and their duties to the state require unusual dynamic force and energy.

"The board of regents certainly have a right to feel gratified. This splendid gathering shows that their work is appreciated.

Building for the Future
"Will you permit me once more to call your attention to the fact that this is a great day for La Crosse, and for the state. I believe that even the most hopeful among us but dimly see the possibilities, the potentialities of this institution. When we consider how many will be benefited by it, and in turn, how many will be influenced by them, and that the work will go on and on indefinitely from generation to generation, we begin to appreciate how well and broadly the state has builded."

The La Crosse Retail Grocers association held a regular meeting last night. Nothing of importance was discussed, only routine business being handled.

Alcohol To Boys and Girls

Giving alcohol, in some form, to your children? All right, if your doctor says so. But does he say so? Are you sure of it? Or are you giving some alcoholic medicine without his knowledge? TRIBUNE WANTS

HELP WANTED-MALE

THERE is a fascination about life at sea which last year caused 65 per cent of the men with good records to re-enlist. Besides the material advantages offered, good pay, steady employment, they find navy life more attractive than routine jobs ashore, because of variety of scene. The conditions on board a spick-and-span battleship are ideal for young men, who are fond of the sea, and desire to travel. Navy training broadens them. Their games and recreations, healthy exercise and regular drills, develop quickness, sound health, and self-reliance.

The first four months after enlistment you get the benefit of free instruction at a navy training station. If you have some trade partially learned you may enlist at better pay, perhaps go first to a navy trade school. Assurance of advancement as reward for good work. Costs you nothing to enlist. Apply at Navy Recruiting Office, Post Office Building, La Crosse.

BLOOD HOUNDS ON TRIAL OF MURDERER

Young Woman's Body Found Nude Is Atrociously Abused; Giant Negro Suspected of Crime

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 10.—The mute testimony of bloodhounds who six times followed a trail from the alley where the nude, strangled body of Anna Pelley was found to a little tumble down house in the negro quarter, has given the police the best clue they have yet discovered to the murderer. Six arrests have followed the trailing of the bloodhounds.

Will James, negro, coal heaver, a giant in stature, who admits to the police that at 6:30 Monday evening, he was in the house to which the dogs led the way, is one of the prisoners held. A woman, whose name is given as Green, who lives in the rear of the house, is also held.

Arthur Alexander and Samuel Mosby, who formerly lived in the house, were arrested late in the evening. They had not lived in the house for some time prior to the murder, but this fact was not known until after the arrests were made. They will be held until after the coroner's inquest over the body, the police say. The fifth person arrested is Georgia Cooper, a woman at whose home James says he spent the night. Miss Pelley was a country girl who came to Cairo from Anna, Ill., a few months ago. She had lived with her sister there. She is about twenty-four and was muscular. Her parents are dead.

Her whereabouts after she left Miss Dolan have been carefully traced by the police.

Other bloodhounds were brought from Harrisburg, Ill., and through the dark streets before daylight today followed the same trail from the scene of the murder to the negro hotel that the other hounds had followed. Then they went on from the house to a saloon where the negro, James, was arrested and on again to the jail where they jumped against the bars of his cell and howled. All the persons arrested are negroes.

Lynching Threatened

A mob formed today and started toward the jail to lynch Will James, the negro coal heaver arrested, in connection with the murder of Anna Pelley. A stranger offered to lead the mob and said, "Come on, boys." At Twelfth and Poplar streets the mob was met by the chief of police, who snatched the mask off one man's face. He talked earnestly to the men in the crowd, telling them the evidence against James was purely circumstantial. The crowd melted away.

EARTHQUAKES OBSERVED

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 10.—Father Odenbach's seismograph at St. Ignace college observatory recorded an earthquake early today. It lasted 29 minutes.

Father Odenbach says the disturbance was between 10,000 and 12,000 miles away, very likely Schina or Japan.

The initial shock was recorded at 12:52 a. m. and lasted until 1:21 a. m., the final being recorded at 1:50 a. m.

"The shock was peculiar," said Father Odenbach, "in that it was most pronounced from east to west. The majority of the quakes are from north to south."

THE KING CARRIED THE INJURED BOY

ROME, Nov. 10.—An automobile in which King Emmanuel was riding, ran down a boy on a bicycle near Pisa. The boy was rendered unconscious, and the king, jumping from the machine, carried him into a nearby house and cared for the youth until the doctors arrived.

Y. M. C. A. NIGHT SCHOOL OPENED

Considerable interest is being aroused by the opening of the Y. M. C. A. night school this week and already enough students have enrolled in several classes to warrant the beginning of class sessions and study this week. There are ten men now enrolled for English for foreigners, some Germans, some Scandinavians, and one Russian Jew. This class will begin its work on Friday night of this week.

The mechanical drawing class lacks but a couple of having a sufficient number to inaugurate work along this line and it is very likely that a sufficient number will be secured before the end of the week when class will be called together to arrange and begin its work.

A considerable number have been enrolled for elementary grammar, composition and spelling, elementary arithmetic and penmanship, and these classes will undoubtedly begin work the first of next week.

Classes in stenography, book-keeping and business arithmetic will also be organized if a sufficient number can be enrolled. The class enrollment now amounts to thirty-one and this ought to increase to sixty or seventy-five within another week.

DASTARDLY ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A score of railroad detectives are today searching for a man suspected of attempting to wreck a fast Chicago & Northwestern train last night. That the train, which leaves this city for Milwaukee at 8 o'clock each night, was not thrown into the ditch and many passengers killed was due to the fact that a slow suburban train carrying hundreds of people bumped safely over a five foot steel weight beam laid across the track near Waukegan. The suburban crew was able to flag the other train in time.

NICARAGUA REPUBLIC MEETS A DEFEAT

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 10.—Provisional President Estrada is preparing to proclaim a new Nicaraguan republic.

The indications of confidence, however, follows a sweeping victory of the insurgents in which six hundred government troops were ambushed, one hundred being killed, whereas the provisional forces lost but five men. The government troops were routed and put to flight.

DISTRICT DENTISTS OF LA CROSSE MEET

Dr. A. T. Rasmussen Reads Very Interesting Paper on "The Surgical Side of Dentistry"

Dentistry, to be successful, must be always practiced from the surgical standpoint, according to Dr. A. T. Rasmussen, who spoke before a meeting of the La Crosse district dentists held at the La Crosse club last night.

Dr. Rasmussen made a strong plea for more real scientific study and research in all things and urged that no man, not even the dentist, take his own profession so seriously that he thinks of nothing else.

In addition to the banquet a business session was held which was presided over by Dr. Roy Baldwin, Viroqua, Wis., president of the La Crosse district dentists.

LA CROSSE'S GROWTH A THING OF WONDER

"I would never recognize La Crosse, so rapidly has it grown in the last twenty-five years," said S. H. Hoyer, Henry, S. D., a former resident of La Crosse.

"Twenty-five years ago all the territory east of Twelfth street was but thinly settled and all the business houses were located near the river."

Mr. Hoyer is a prosperous farmer in Dakota and is at present visiting his nephew, Al Bergseth, 309 South Sixth street.

HYPNOTISED ON STAGE AND DIES OF EFFECTS

SOMERVILLE, N.J., Nov. 10.—Arthur Everton is in jail here on a charge of manslaughter following the death of Robert Simpson on the stage of the local theater last night, after he had been hypnotized by Everton, who is a professional hypnotist. Simpson's body is at the morgue at the Somerville hospital.

EBERHART OUSTS BELTRAMI AUDITOR

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 10.—Governor Eberhart today decided upon the removal of John Willmann, auditor of Beltrami county from office. Willmann's troubles are due, it is asserted, to incompetency. No dishonesty, Governor Eberhart says, applies. Friends of Willmann made desperate efforts to save him, but without effect.

CHAUFFEUR FOUND IN THE CHICAGO RIVER

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The body of Walter Kamp, chauffeur of the ill-fated automobile which plunged over the approach of a downtown bridge Sunday night into the Chicago river, was recovered before noon on Tuesday. The body was in a good of preservation. It was positively identified by Kamp's employer.

The body was found a quarter of a mile from the scene of the tragedy. It is believed that the bodies of Beatrice Shapiro and Max Cohen, supposed to be the two other victims of the accident, are in the same spot. The police at noon continued the search for the bodies.

It is believed that Kamp was insane.

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN PERISH

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Nelson Jensen, her week old baby and four other children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home at Warren on the Canadian Northern line near here today. The fire was caused by an explosion of gasoline.

'KILLED WHILE HUNTING

WILLISTON, N.D., Nov. 10.—Geo. Marlin, a ferryman on the Missouri river, was shot and instantly killed while hunting in McKenzie county. The affair was purely accidental. The bullet went directly through Marlin's heart.

REINTER BODY

Relatives of Walter Jordan, whose body was exhumed for identification purposes, was Tuesday afternoon buried in the same grave, it being decided not to transfer the body to the Catholic cemetery.

RIDES TO DEATH ON ENGINE PILOT

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Nov. 10.—John Van Ouwkerk, a molder, was killed by a passenger train at Riverside this afternoon. The accident was not discovered until the train reached Sheboygan Falls. The man was found lying across the engine pilot still alive, but he died a few minutes after being discovered.

JURY EXONERATES MRS. FRANCES MARTEL

DEPERE, Wis., Nov. 10.—The jury in the inquest over the body of Deputy Marshal Otto W. Zimdars, found dead from a bullet wound two weeks ago, brought in a verdict that Zimdars was accidentally killed by Frances Martel, and recommended that she be held to the municipal court on the charge of drunkenness, disorderly conduct and criminal carelessness in use of firearms.

If some men ever had any good intentions they must have chloroformed them.

OWLS HOLD A BIG INITIATION

The newly organized Owls held their first regular meeting at the Woodmen hall on Rose St., Monday evening, about 100 being in attendance. The feature of the meeting was the exercises, when a class of about 35 were taken into the lodge. The paraphernalia of the order is arriving and will be used at the next initiation meeting. President Frank Farnam presided at the meeting.
